

Collateral Relief Extended to April 30, 2021

FHLBank Atlanta (Bank) has extended certain provisions of its COVID-19 Collateral Relief Program until April 30, 2021. The program was originally implemented in March 2020 in response to the COVID-19 pandemic and covers various aspects of loan eligibility. View additional information on the Collateral Relief Program here.

The following provisions will be extended until April 30, 2021:

- Electronically signed or imaged loan modifications or loan forbearance agreements related to COVID-19
- Loans under a forbearance agreement due to COVID-19

Collateral reporting will continue to be due on regular schedules based on the loan portfolio type. In addition, the Bank anticipates conducting its full schedule of Collateral Verification Reviews (CVR) in 2021, including those that were postponed in 2020. Due to ongoing travel and on-site work limitations, the Bank will conduct CVRs remotely when feasible. Shareholders selected for a CVR in 2021 will be notified in February.
